

MISSILE DEFENSE AGENCY

Student Career Experience Program

(SCEP)

What is the Missile Defense Agency?

The Missile Defense Agency (MDA) is a Department of Defense (DoD) agency that is structured to respond to existing and emerging ballistic missile threats to the United States, its forward deployed forces, our allies, and our friends around the world. Our stated mission is “to deliver what we promise and what we promise is missile defense...that responds to a changing and growing threat.”

To achieve this mission, MDA works closely with industry, colleges and universities, and other government agencies in the development of sophisticated ballistic missile defense weapons systems. MDA also supports advanced research in such areas as aerospace, lasers, communications, information technology and electronics.

When you join the Missile Defense Agency as a student employee, you will become part of a workforce of dedicated civilian and military employees and numerous contractors. While members of the MDA workforce can be found in four locations—Arlington, Virginia; Huntsville, Alabama; Colorado Springs, Colorado and Anchorage, Alaska—the majority of the staff works at the Virginia location, near our Nation’s Capital.

The Missile Defense Agency team is representative of the American workforce—we are dedicated, hardworking and focused on our mission. To that end, we are searching for the “best and brightest” to join us.

Why work for the Missile Defense Agency?

When you are trying to determine the direction to take in your professional life, today's job market can be pretty confusing. You might start with a checklist of what you expect from your career. If your expectation of the "right job" is one that motivates you to do your best, recognizes and rewards your efforts, has a well-defined career path for advancement, and utilizes (and challenges!) your knowledge and skills, the Missile Defense Agency's Student Career Experience Program (SCEP) may be for you.

The SCEP is an opportunity to work alongside some of the best and brightest in this field. Learn from them as you prepare to transition into their "shoes."

Put the Missile Defense Agency at the top of your checklist. We can fulfill your expectations by offering tough, exciting and rewarding jobs. If you count yourself among the "best and brightest," you may qualify to become an MDA student employee.

Is tuition assistance available for college courses?

Student employees are eligible for tuition assistance with the proper advance approval.

What is the Student Career Experience Program (SCEP)?

Current college students are given opportunities to work part-time at MDA while taking classes, or full-time during semesters and summer breaks. The program, often referred to as Co-operative Education (Coop), provides work experience that is directly related to the student's academic program. Participants are eligible for non-competitive conversion to permanent, or other temporary appointments, upon completion of their program, which includes 640 hours of work with MDA.

Are travel costs reimbursed?

SCEP students are reimbursed for travel expenses incurred during official government travel. All travel expenses related to any required formal training courses are also fully reimbursed. All travel must be approved in advance.

What is the starting pay of a SCEP student?

Starting pay for SCEP students will vary depending on academic level and experience. Pay ranges from the GS-4 to GS-9 levels. The federal pay scale varies by geographical region of the country and specialty. The locality and specialty pay tables may be accessed at the following:
www.opm.gov

What are the benefits of the SCEP?

2110 Washington Blvd. Suite 150
Arlington, VA 22204

Equal Opportunity Employer
The Missile Defense Agency is an equal opportunity employer. All qualified and eligible applicants will receive consideration without regard to political, religious, or labor organization affiliation or non-affiliation, marital status, race, color, sex, national origin, or disqualifying physical handicap, or age, or any other non-merit factor.

What is the selection process?

Applications will be reviewed in order of their completion. Candidates will be evaluated on: related courses, competitive GPA, academic or community distinctions, and employment experiences to date. Candidates may be asked to participate in a telephone or in-person interview at one of our national sites. Successful candidates will be notified of their conditional selection and their MDA placement. A mandatory security clearance process will then be initiated and must be successfully completed as a condition of employment. The candidate will also be subject to a mandatory drug test.

What if I have other questions about the program?
